Education is the great leveler of society. Armed with a comprehensive curriculum, a valid and reliable assessment program, and capable teachers, Australia’s schools will give all children, regardless of their family circumstances, an opportunity to live up to their full potential. The mission of the Australian Curriculum, Assessment and Reporting Authority (ACARA) is to improve the learning of all young Australians. We do this by providing schools with the tools, techniques and information they require to fulfil their vital social role.

ACARA’s work begins with the Australian Curriculum, which sets out the knowledge and skills that all students need to learn to participate in modern society. For the first time, all schools in Australia will be teaching the same curriculum. This offers many advantages. It ensures that what a child learns is not determined by where he or she happens to live, and prevents students from being disadvantaged should their families relocate interstate. And most important of all, a national curriculum permits the sharing of best practice and resources across state and territory borders.

To track progress, provide accountability and identify good teaching practices, ACARA conducts the National Assessment Program, which includes the tests of literacy and numeracy known as NAPLAN and sample testing in Science Literacy, ICT Literacy and Civics and Citizenship. ACARA also produces the National Report on Schooling in Australia and provides information about schools through the My School website.

In future years, ACARA will continue to improve the Australian Curriculum, ensuring that it meets the needs of all students and is accessible to teachers, parents and the broader community.

In addition to work on the curriculum, ACARA will significantly improve the National Assessment Program by moving it online. Online testing will allow more precise measurement, earlier reporting of results, and it can be adapted to meet the needs of all children including those with a disability. By aligning the assessments with the Australian Curriculum, the results will provide valuable diagnostic data for teachers to use in the classroom. ACARA will add further information to the My School website while also making it more accessible to parents and educators.
The ACARA plan is ambitious but achievable. It is designed to produce a return on the investment already made in curriculum development, assessment and reporting by tying the three areas of work together. The curriculum specifies the knowledge and skills we expect students to acquire, the national assessment program reveals whether students are learning what we want them to learn, and reporting allows us to identify good teaching ideas and share them nationally. Taken together, they provide a powerful mechanism for improving education for the benefit of all Australians.

WHO WE ARE
The Australian Curriculum, Assessment and Reporting Authority (ACARA) is an independent statutory authority.

ACARA has been operational since 28 May 2009 and was established under section 5 of the Australian Curriculum, Assessment and Reporting Authority Act (Cth) on 8 December 2008.

ACARA executes policy directions determined by the Education Council regarding curriculum, assessment, data and reporting at a national level and operates in accordance with the following principles:

- National interest: ACARA’s priorities are based on initiatives that are collectively agreed by the Education Council, focusing on matters that are most effectively undertaken at a national level
- Alignment: work streams undertaken by ACARA align internally and complement the national education agenda
- Quality and innovation: delivering superior, creative and effective products and services that are fit for purpose and actively assist jurisdictions in the implementation of the national education agenda
- Efficiency: ensuring products and services are developed and delivered in a timely manner within agreed budgets
- Transparency and accountability: ACARA’s planning and reporting is undertaken in a manner that provides assurance to the Education Council that ACARA’s work is in the national interest
- Engagement: working collaboratively with all jurisdictions, the non-government education sector, ministerial companies and authorities and relevant stakeholders, to ensure ACARA’s outputs are aligned with the national education agenda and ACARA communicates effectively with the general public.

WHAT WE DO
WHAT WE DO

ACARA’s mission is to improve the learning of all young Australians through world-class school curriculum, assessment and reporting.

The purposes of the authority (strategic directions agreed by the Education Council) are:

National assessment
- provide a quality, comprehensive and cohesive suite of national assessments

National data and reporting
- provide and apply a comprehensive and reliable national measurement framework
- facilitate the use and dissemination of data for research and policy development in accordance with agreed protocols
- present detailed, accessible, timely and meaningful school education performance information

National curriculum
- provide a world-class curriculum from Foundation to Year 12 in specified learning areas agreed to by the Education Council
- assemble the evidence base required to review, develop and refine curriculum

National collaboration and leadership
- provide effective national leadership in curriculum development, educational assessment and national reporting
- closely collaborate with jurisdictions, the non-government education sector and relevant stakeholders in pursuing the national education agenda

These purposes acknowledge the commitment to promoting world-class curriculum and assessment and to strengthening accountability and transparency as identified within the Melbourne Declaration on Educational Goals for Young Australians (the Melbourne Declaration) as agreed by all education ministers in December 2008.
Section three
OUR ENVIRONMENT
OUR ENVIRONMENT

Context

ACARA works in a transparent and collaborative manner with Australian Government, state and territory departments of education and government and non-government school authorities. ACARA shares its work and seeks input and advice on a range of topics through its advisory group structure. The structure enables consistent opportunities for engagement with key stakeholders.

National assessment provides school education leaders, teachers and parents with the means to assess students against previous performance, national benchmarks and their peers using an objective measure. The National Assessment Program, NAPLAN and NAP Sample are used in combination with other forms of assessment to diagnose learning and inform priorities for students, cohorts and schools. New digital technologies are transforming assessment.

Public reporting promotes accountability and engagement in school education. Provision of quality information on schooling is important for schools and their students, for parents and their families, and for the community and governments.

The rationale for an Australian curriculum centres on improving the quality, equity and transparency of Australia’s education system. In particular, a national curriculum ensures that every child in Australia, regardless of where they live or the school they attend, has access to a world-class curriculum.

Direction-setting

The ACARA Act stipulates that ACARA must perform its purposes in accordance with directions given to it by the Education Council in writing, and in accordance with its Charter. ACARA’s Charter is agreed to by the Education Council and sets the strategic direction for ACARA. The Charter affirms ACARA’s role as an independent statutory authority and provides guidance about the nature of the activities ACARA is expected to undertake in fulfilling its functions and executing the policy directions set by the Education Council.

ACARA prepares a quadrennial work plan and budget for endorsement by the Education Council in accordance with the ACARA Charter. In addition, under current arrangements, each financial year ACARA submits a detailed annual work plan for endorsement by the Education Council. ACARA reports its progress against its annual work plan at meetings of the ACARA Board, the Australian Education Senior Officials Committee (AESOC) and the Education Council.
National education landscape and ACARA’s impact

ACARA has reshaped the education landscape over the past seven years through the introduction of the national curriculum, continuation and enhancement of national testing and initiation of public reporting on schools through My School. The next period represents an opportunity to further enhance these areas, including bringing national assessments online and further aligning assessment to the Australian Curriculum as this is implemented across Australia.

ACARA’s highest priority under its current Charter is to shift the balance of the available resources and attention to its assessment function and collaborate with Education Services Australia and all Australian governments to ensure successful implementation of NAPLAN Online.

Stakeholders

ACARA’s partners are the Australian Government, state and territory departments of education and national non-government school sector peak bodies. ACARA’s stakeholders include teachers, principals, parents and students as well as the broader community. ACARA has a range of advisory and expert groups that provide advice to support ACARA’s work and ensure it takes account of input from partners, stakeholders and relevant experts. The advisory structure is reviewed regularly to ensure advice provided is fit for purpose. ACARA works closely with its Education Council counterparts, the Australian Institute of Teaching and School Leadership (AITSL) and Education Services Australia (ESA).

Funding

Funding for ACARA is allocated by states and territories and the Australian Government under the Education Council’s funding formula – with half of ACARA’s funding provided by the Australian Government and the other half provided by states and territories.
